

Dear Graham and Kevin,

Thank you very much for allowing me to tell you and your network about Unillence, promote Ukraine, and attract attention from potential clients. You did a wonderful job preparing, leading, recording, and editing the podcast and I appreciate the time, effort, and energy you have invested. After listening to the podcast I noticed one moment which I didn't address during the recording, and now when I heard it made me sad. I would like to explain myself and try to convey my perspective and I hope for your understanding.

During the intro, Graham said that it doesn't matter who wins the Russian war against Ukraine. I would like to say that I deeply wish for Ukrainians to win this war with all my heart, and here is why. On 24th of Feb 2022, Russia invaded Ukraine killing Ukrainians and destroying the cities. Since that time I have been feeling constant threat from Russia for the lives of my family and friends. Thanks to the titanic efforts and the bravery of soldiers, men, and women, and the support of Ukrainians by so many nations and countries across the globe, Ukrainian armed forces were able to push back Russians to the positions where they are today. Nevertheless, Russians never stopped attacking and trying to conquer more Ukrainian territory, they kept launching missiles hitting all territory of Ukraine, killing people, and shelling cities near the front line and this continues today. If Ukrainians didn't resist, we would lose our freedom, home country, and significantly more lives of Ukrainians, because Russians once again came to the territory of Ukraine to kill Ukrainians and erase Ukraine as an independent sovereign country. If Ukrainians stop fighting now, Russia will continue conquering Ukraine further until it succeeds. If Ukrainians don't end this war now and pause, Russia will just take the time to refresh and make another try in the future. We have already learned this from past experience and there is no more trust in peaceful negotiations with Russia. I would like to live in a safe, peaceful, and free country where my family is not afraid to die or scared that Russia might restart its invasion with new efforts any day/week/month soon. This is why we need to crush the Russian army now and push them out of the Ukraine territory so they don't even think about the possibility of coming again. Right now Ukrainians are defending our safety, freedom, and our future on our territory.

Russia winning means that it is OK in the 21st century to invade another country and try to erase it and its nation from the map of the world.

Ukraine winning means securing our safety, freedom, and future within our sovereign territory and not letting any other aggressor in the world think they can launch similar attacks on their neighbors.

A lot of Ukrainians contribute to our victory by serving in the military, running businesses, donating and crowdfunding, volunteering, supplying soldiers with ammunition, spreading the word about Ukraine to uncover disinformation, and much more. We do all this because we want to win, meaning we want to have freedom and peace in our land for a very long time.

I would like to let you know my perspective because it is now the time when every opinion is important in this global connected world and I hope I can convey my point to you so you might rethink the topic. I am open to chatting anytime and telling you more and answering any of your questions to give you as detailed a perspective as possible of what I and many Ukrainians from my environment living in Ukraine right now feel.

I am very grateful to you for promoting Unillence, Ukraine, and myself. This is a great contribution to support Ukrainian business and economy in our struggle to win.

Kind regards,
Marian
